The Fading Year.
Atheism Dies Out.
What Is a Blessing.
Talkies Will Spread English.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

THE old year creeping to its end, the days, like an old man's breathing, getting shorter.

Yesterday was the year's shortest day, the Sun visible only for nine hours.

SEVERE earthquake in Bulgaria. More than nine-tenths of the people on earth do not know where Bulgaria is or that it is a country.

In Portugal, where the world's worst earthquake happened, there is a better feeling between church and state.

The young Portuguese republic came in on a wave of atheism, as did the French revolution.

But atheism ebbs, as men grapple with difficulties and Portugal now permits the re-opening of many churches, closed in anger, religion may be taught in Portugal schools.

WHAT are the great events of the dying year, 1929? The worst, for many, was Wall Street's upheaval. But, if it cures them of gambling, turns them toward productive work, it will have been a blessing.

THE real worst event, barring intervention by Providence, will be America's entry into the World Court.

No individual in the administration would submit his own affairs to a court, foreign and hostile.

However, 1931 may see us out of the court; 1932 will surely find us back on an American basis.

AS TO the greatest blessing of 1929, all depends on what a genuine blessing is. Carlyle put to his countrymen this question: "Would you sooner, of your possessions, part with Shakespeare or with India?"

Thirty million Hindus, bled down, would not be worth Shakespeare's little finger. And all the gold that Britain will ever get from Asia could not equal Shakespeare in value.

IT TAKES 100 years and more to decide on values.

But the practical development of talking, moving pictures is surely an event of this year that will stand out in history.

That invention will make it possible to establish one language throughout the world.

AND as America controls in moving pictures, possessing almost a world monopoly, the English language will spread more rapidly than it has ever done.

When Germany seized a big slice in the partition of Poland and wished to Germanize the new territory, Goethe advised sending in actors speaking German, in popular plays.

MEANWHILE, picture makers are puzzled. They must have sound to please England and America. Other nations cannot understand it.

They will have to guess the meaning, and learn English gradually, as our aristocratic wearers of diamond necklaces have learned Italian and French at the opera.

APPLETON & CO. print The Earth Tuh, story of Mongolians invading America by a short cut, through the earth.

Rumblings under Manhattan Island, mistaken for earthquake disturbance, are found to be the work of Asiatics, tunneling to New York.

NO DANGER in that suggestion. Our suns interior, due to pressure, is fixed by scientists at 50,000,000 degrees centigrade.

Heat at the earth's center would melt marble, and be thousands of degrees too hot even for Asiatics.

TROLLEY CARS, C. & P. TRAINS ON SCHEDULE

Nine Scrapers are Used on County Highways.

TRACKS SWEEP "White Christmas" Looms for Ohio Cities.

A six-inch blanket of snow today disrupted schedules on bus lines but failed to interfere with street cars and trains.

Nine scrapers, seven owned by the state highway department and two by the county, cleared the improved roads in the rural sections. The first scraper cleaned the Lincoln highway, west of Lisbon, while others worked toward East Liverpool, Salem, Columbiana, East Palestine and Salineville. The highways will be practically cleared of snow before night.

Early morning cars on the Grandview and Chester lines were from three to five minutes late on the first trip. One sweeper left the Pennsylvania avenue car barn at 4:30 o'clock this morning and covered most of the wreckage in the district. Another was used in opening the lines in Steubenville.

Trains over the Cleveland division of the Pennsylvania railroad were operating on schedule. The connection in the Pittsburgh district, due to the cold weather, has been relieved. Railroad officials reported traffic heavy today.

Telephone company officials reported little damage from the snow.

Street Commissioner McLaughlin and his force were on the job in the business district.

Five Die in Traffic. Ohio, which is covered with a thick and heavy blanket of snow, today took toll of its traffic accident during the week-end and found that five persons had been killed. Injuries totaled more than three score.

A family of three was wiped out in a train crash in Brookpark village, near Cleveland, Saturday night. The auto in which they were riding was struck by two trains. The dead are Albert Schumuck, 25, his wife, Mary 24, and their son, James, 4.

Kenneth Krause, 12, of Detroit, was killed shortly after midnight today when the automobile in which he was riding struck a snow drift on the Detroit-Toledo road, one mile north of Toledo, and overturned. Two others were injured in the same accident.

Alton Bailey, 23, died in Charity hospital in Cleveland today from injuries which he received in an automobile skidding accident in that city.

The weekend traffic toll in Stark county included one dead and twenty persons injured. Donald Evans, 17, Louisville, Ky., was instantly killed when his car overturned on the Waco-Mapleton road. Another man and two girl companions were unhurt.

Traffic exacted the life of Jacob Pracek of Cleveland, whom his automobile was forced from the road, near Bedford.

Higher Temperatures Predicted. By International News Service. CLEVELAND, Dec. 23.—Northern Ohio skies salted down another layer of snow today for a "white Christmas," as temperatures slowly limped upward toward the freezing mark.

Predictions were today that mercury would probably rise above the freezing point.

The snow covering in most sections of the state is a foot or more in depth. Some sections, however, have been badly pelted and are bound in much deeper drifts.

Heavy Snow in Columbus. COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 23.—Mother Goose picked her geese last night and today the prospects of a White Christmas in Ohio lay on the ground, and, according to the weatherman, it will become more white ere the morning of the 25th dawns.

Even old Saint Nick is more jolly about the weather and though he was scheduled to make his trip by air this year it has become known that he and all his attendants were sleeping up the reindeer in high anticipation for his all-night jaunt with his great red sleigh.

In Columbus, the heaviest snow since the World war covered the streets, delaying traffic and keeping air transportation earth-bound. Street cars ground their way along behind the helpful influence of snow brushes. The city's snow department came in for its share of the work.

GERMANS SHOP AS YOUNG PLAN IS APPROVED

Hugenberg's Nationalist Measure Defeated at Polls.

6,276,673 VOTE

Bill Supported by 11.5 Per Cent of Electors.

BY OTTO D. TOLISCHUS. International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Dec. 23.—Dr. Alfred Hugenberg's nationalist measure, demanding the rejection of the Young plan met with a crushing defeat in the nation-wide referendum yesterday, virtually complete returns indicated today.

Germany's voters manifested their disinterest and disapproval of the nationalist leader's so-called "law against the enslavement of the German people" mainly by staying away from the polls and doing their Christmas shopping instead.

With the German electorate numbering 41,520,000, a majority vote of 20,760,000 was required to enact the measure. However, a total of only 6,276,673 voted. Of these, 5,825,082 voted for the bill, 337,320 voted against it, and 114,271 marked their ballots in such a way as to make them invalid. As a result, the bill received the support of only about 11.5 per cent of the voters.

Despite the overwhelming defeat his measure suffered in the referendum, it is believed Dr. Hugenberg may take court action to demand another plebiscite.

Washington Delighted. WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Germany's support of the Young plan, as indicated by yesterday's national vote, was hailed with satisfaction by administration officials today. Although this government is not a party to the plan, officials are nevertheless interested in its effectiveness because of the bearing on the general European situation.

The result of the vote ought to be beneficial to Europe generally, said Secretary of State Stimson. "We are glad to see that the plan remains unchallenged."

At the reception, two old time fiddlers, Jerry McLaughlin and A. J. Sipe, both of Lisbon, were present.

Mrs. Crook, before her marriage was Lenora Shawke. The wedding united two of the oldest families then in Columbiana county.

Mr. Crook was a son of Samuel Crook, who settled in Fairfield township early in the last century, coming from Virginia. The mother of Mr. Crook was a granddaughter of Thomas Frederick who obtained a land grant of 640 acres northeast of Lisbon in 1802, before Ohio was admitted to the statehood. The grant was signed by President James Madison.

Mrs. Crook's father was the late Joseph R. Shawke, a son of Jacob Shawke who fought in the war of 1812 and who also served during the Revolutionary war.

Mr. Crook was engaged in the restaurant business for many years in Lisbon. The business is now owned and managed by his son, Ralph S. Crook.

LISBON.—A turkey dinner and a reception at their country home in the Salem-Lisbon road in Center township yesterday marked the golden wedding anniversary of Cletus H. Crook and his wife, Lenora Crook. Four persons who attended the wedding 50 years ago were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Crook were married Dec. 18, 1879. Two ministers, the late Rev. Frank Richards, and the Rev. Dr. Freshwater, now residing at New Philadelphia officiated.

At the reception, two old time fiddlers, Jerry McLaughlin and A. J. Sipe, both of Lisbon, were present.

The couple's honeymoon plans are carefully guarded by the two families.

BRIDE IS SHOT BY MAN WHO ACCOSTS HER

Mrs. Mary Pshock, Cleveland, Seriously Wounded.

NOTE ON TABLE Hunt Suspect Who Fired at Another Woman.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 23.—A black-cloaked gunman, who shot a 20-year-old bride last night and who is believed to be the same man who wounded Miss Beatrice Gallagher 23, last Friday, was sought by police here today.

The mysterious gunman escaped last night after having fired two bullets into the body of Mrs. Mary Pshock, 20, when she refused to "take a little walk" with him. Mrs. Pshock was taken to Charity hospital, in a critical condition, where an operation was performed.

Ballistic experts who examined the bullets taken from Mrs. Pshock's body said they were fired from the same kind of a gun and were of the same caliber and cartidge as those taken from the body of Miss Gallagher Friday.

Mrs. Pshock told police the gunman accosted her as she stood on a corner and asked her to take a walk. When she refused and started away the man pulled a revolver and fired twice. One of the bullets lodged in the girl's back and the other in her abdomen.

Police found a note lying on a table at the Pshock home addressed to "Johnny" from "Mary." "I'm leaving, but you needn't look for me except by the lake. Merry Christmas," it read.

Mrs. Pshock explained she had left the note to "scare her husband," who had gone to visit a friend. The couple were married three months ago.

James S. Hilbert, deputy commissioner of automobiles, has issued 400 sets of the plate. The Columbiana County Motor club has distributed 600 sets to local members.

Automobile owners were urged to obtain their plates immediately in order to avoid the congestion which prevails at the license bureau following Christmas.

By International News Service. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 23.—Officials today blamed a blinding snow storm for the crash of a Transcontinental Air transport plane here which killed one man yesterday.

Carrying 11 passengers from St. Louis, the huge craft overshot the field in attempting a landing and struck a stump, tearing off a portion of the landing gear and one motor.

Metal tie rods from the left landing gear were thrust through the fuselage in the smashup, fatally injuring D. C. Law of Philadelphia, and injuring C. M. Kline, also of Philadelphia. Kline is believed to have suffered a fractured leg.

Instead of turning over the monoplane swung almost completely around at the impact. Pilot Dean Burford, of Columbus, O., was at the controls.

Soviet Diplomacy Wins Row Over Eastern Railway.

PACT IS SIGNED Agreement Provides For Withdrawal of Troops.

By EDWARD L. DEUSS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

The signing of the protocol was hailed here as a signal victory for Soviet arms and diplomacy. Those who affixed their signatures to the document were M. Simanovsky, for the Soviet government, and Tista Yun-Sheng, for the Mukden government.

The agreement provided for withdrawal of the troops of both sides from the frontiers which have been in a turmoil for six months and the immediate restoration of Soviet consulates and commercial organizations in Manchuria and Chinese consulates and business organizations in Siberia.

A conference between Russian and Chinese officials will be held here on January 25, at which all outstanding questions will be settled, according to the protocol, with the complete restoration of diplomatic relations between the two countries resulting.

TWO RESCUED; STEAMER GOES DOWN IN GALE

Fishing Boats Brave Heavy Seas Near Hongkong.

NO LIFE BELTS Many Women and Children are Among Victims.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—Three hundred passengers aboard the steamer Lee Chong were reported drowned when the vessel foundered in a terrific gale while enroute to Hong Kong, according to a Central News dispatch received from the latter city today.

Later dispatches from Hong Kong stated that only two survivors of the tragedy have been rescued. These were picked up by fishing boats which braved the mountainous seas to reach the vicinity of the shipwreck.

The Lee Chong was a postal steamer carrying passengers and mails. After battling a heavy gale and mountainous seas for hours, the vessel suddenly capsized, throwing all the passengers and crew into the water without lifebelts or other means of succor.

The two survivors were found clinging to makeshift rafts composed of wreckage of the foundered steamer. Although the fishing boats cruised for a considerable period around the scene of the tragedy, no other survivors were found.

The three hundred drowned included many women and children.

NEW FARE PLAN ON CAR LINE

Cash Register System is Adopted On Beaver-Steubenville Interurban Trolley Division.

The Steubenville, East Liverpool & Beaver Valley Traction company, yesterday inaugurated a new system of fare collection on Steubenville-Beaver cars.

The plan calls for the use of a new type cash register, which is operated by the conductor. As the passenger pays his fare, the conductor presses the key which ejects a ticket upon which is stamped the zone in which the passenger boards the car and the zone in which he intends to leave the car and also the amount of fare paid. This ticket, as is now the custom, is returned to either the conductor or the motorman when the passenger reaches his destination.

The register was used in one car yesterday and will be in operation on all cars on the interurban line before the first of the year.

CRIB SERVICE
ON YULE EVE

The crib service, which will be given by members of St. Ann's Catholic church, Pennsylvania avenue and Palfrey street, at midnight tomorrow night, is a reproduction of the scene representing the nativity of Christ which was constructed by St. Francis in 1223, the Rev. Father L. Maurer, pastor of the church, said today. The ceremony has spread into all parts of the Christian world, being celebrated annually from the eve of Christmas until the eighth day after the Yuletide.

The scene depicts the mystery of the incarnation by recalling the traditions and events surrounding the birth of Christ.

A feature of the service tomorrow night will be the veneration of a sacred relic said to be a part of the original crib. High Mass will follow the crib service.

YULE SPIRIT
SACRED TRUST
PASTOR SAYS

Rev. W. T. McCandless
Speaks In U. P.
Church.

DAY OF CHRIST

Explains Meaning Of Birth in Bethlehem
Stable.

"The Christmas spirit is a sacred trust, a gift to be kept by giving it away," declared the Rev. W. T. McCandless in a sermon in the Second United Presbyterian church, St. George street, yesterday morning. He pointed out that year after year people let the Christmas spirit carry them unheeding past one of the most important events in religious history.

He said in part: "Christmas is only three days away, but it comes only as we are prepared to be used of God to help bring into the world her King. The Christmas spirit is the great preparation. The sending of this holy, happy spirit is the divine method of preparing for the coming of the Christ. It is called the Holy Spirit in the beginning of the gospel. Year after year we let the Christmas rush carry us past one of the most important teachings of God's word.

"We are not to think of the gospel as beginning with the birth of Jesus. There was a preparation for His coming. Just as the Holy Spirit was sent upon the prayer meeting in the upper room before the Church of Jesus Christ was born in Jerusalem, just so was the Holy Spirit sent unto certain individuals before the birth of Christ in Bethlehem.

"Through those to whom the Holy Spirit came, God sent His Son. There are four of these especially mentioned who received the Holy Ghost. The angel said to Mary, 'The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee,' and the scripture says of Zacharias, 'He was filled with the Holy Ghost.' Of Elizabeth it says, 'Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Ghost.' The angel said of John the Baptist, 'He shall be filled with the Holy Ghost, even from his mother's womb.' God uses only those who have the Spirit of Christ to bring Christ into the world.

"The Christmas spirit is a sacred trust; it is a gift to be kept by giving it away, and the more we give of it to others the more we have of it ourselves.

"It is the one gift above all else that God is glad to give, as the scripture tells us the heavenly Father is more anxious to give us of His Holy Spirit than an earthly father is to give good gifts unto his children.

"It is an individual matter, and yet multitudes have received it. It is a great Christmas thought when we remember how many thousands there are who are calling upon God in prayer in these days of preparation for Christmas that He will give them richly of this heavenly spirit.

Quench Enmity With Love.

"The hope of the world is in the answer to such a prayer, and the joy that has come to the world through the coming of the life that is Christ rises high at this time of the year. For it the Yule tide is the high tide.

"We do well to honor the holy, happy, Christmas spirit again for what it has done and can do. We need the spirit that helps a man to do more than he has promised, that makes him give more than he gets, that quenches enmity with love, that is as kind to children as to kings. We need the spirit that makes wise men forget country, and creed and comfort, and journey afar, and dedicate all they are and all they have to honor the life that came to the world when Christ was born in Bethlehem."

Get Your Auto Tags!

Judging from the fact that only 1,000 automobile license plates have been issued in the East Liverpool district, there will be a free-for-all rush for 1930 tags, with the likelihood of long lines of applicants, during the last week of the year.

Although approximately 6,000 motor cars are driven on the streets of the city of East Liverpool, less than 17 percent of the owners have complied with "shop early" suggestion. As a result comparatively few of the new maroon and white plates, use of which is now permitted, have made their appearance here.

So far Deputy Automobile Commissioner J. S. Hilbert, who is the general distributor, has issued but 400 licenses, while the Columbiana County Motor club, which handles the tags for its members, has distributed 600 sets. Thus if the 5,000 motorists who have neglected the formality of applying for the necessary tags for next year, decide to wait until the eleventh hour there will be congestion at the motor license bureaus.

Under orders issued by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, city, township and county authorities, through police departments, constables and sheriffs, will arrest autoists who attempt to operate cars under old licenses after December 31. This means new tags must be carried on motor cars on New Year's day.

A hint to the wise should be sufficient. Get your automobile license tags before the rush begins!

The Glorified Christmas Card

The average American family is faced at the jolly Yuletide season with one of life's grim problems—the necessity of selecting Christmas cards which will please both the recipient and the sender's pocketbook. There is no honorable escape. The only alternative is to send any greetings thereby branding yourself a reclusive, a pouter, or perhaps a mere piker.

A vest pocket survey of the cards finding favor with the more than 100 million persons who make up the market reveals that the same emotional gentlemen who write thumb nail sentiment for the telegraph companies have been at work. Every conceivable ruse has been employed to bury the real message under the veil of flowery verbiage and rare indeed is the card that stands on its own merit and states with unequivocal frankness that it wishes the reader a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Snappiness is the keynote of the greetings. "Jolly" is greatly overworked and "cheery" is the current word for "happy." Everything is designed to be breath-taking. Superlatives are sprinkled about promiscuously. "We wish you the very merriest of Christmases and the happiest of New Years." Quite true, but who is going to believe it? Blackest of all sins is the vulgar abbreviation "Xmas," which leads to the belief that some broken down headline writer has found a haven.

Patient looking camels, jolly English gentlemen somewhat the worse for too much Christmas cheer, snug little cottages entwined in holly and all the what-not of holiday greeting decorations are back again and the upholstered envelope adds a bright touch of color. As usual, the sliding price scale is effective, but it is cheering to notice that the higher the price goes the more impossible the general appearance of the card. After a certain limit has been reached, a more welcome Christmas greeting would be a postal money order.

It is all part of the game, no doubt—an expression of America's big brotherliness. Tastes differ and the ability to cater to one and all has developed into a very lucrative business for someone.

Television will answer the question as to whether the morning exercise announcer is actually going through the exercise himself.

A London cable says that "journalists" will cover the London naval conference. That's all right, provided, of course, that there will be two or three newspaper men on the job to give us the news.

The Limitations of Efficiency

It is to be expected that in an age when the machine has been exalted to the position of a mechanical god, that its most valuable quality—impersonal efficiency—should be accepted as an ideal. Observing this tendency, it is easy to make the deduction that this force which man's mind has created is slow in encompassing him and, if given latitude enough, may become too strong and create his destruction. The individual is encouraged to become, as far as possible, a part of the mechanism which he attends. There is an obvious effort to pound all material, human and otherwise, into the same mold, thereby creating a pattern which will create greater theoretical efficiency.

This idea, made accessible to minds incapable of restricting it in practice, is likely to manifest itself in monstrous action. The most remarkable recent example is that of a scheme outlined by L. M. Sabsovitch, one of Russia's leading economists, to the Soviet government calling for the complete separation of children from their parents at birth and turning them over to the government to be placed in "baby houses" established along the lines of Sovietistic pedagogy. It is his contention that under a communist regime, children should not be the property of their parents, but should become the "property of the state," which should assume full responsibility for their care and upbringing.

This scheme put into general practice, M. Sabsovitch contends, will enable future generations in Russia to enter maturity with greater physical fitness and will eradicate any false ideas they may have about their obligations to parents or relatives. The individual will bear the children, but the state will be the parent. It is, in other words, factory efficiency applied to government.

The idea would be perfect, were human beings robots rather than living, feeling personalities. It is entirely in error, however, in that it seeks to destroy individuality. Progress does not arise from the uniformity of the masses, but from the leaders—men and women who have escaped the curse of the rubber stamp.

Efficiency is never an end; it is only a means. M. Sabsovitch, or any other person who attempts to achieve a goal which calls for the de-humanizing of mankind is on the wrong track. The only justification for any scheme of efficiency is the furtherance of happiness and any plan which fails to account for the human elements that create happiness defeats itself. The lamentable thing is that the error may not be apparent until human beings have been irrevocably injured.

Other Editorial Opinions

THE ANTELOPE ARE COMING BACK.
The little prong-horned antelope are the daintiest and the fastest animal that ever skimmed the North American horizon within the historic period. Half a century ago there were still millions of them, herds almost comparable to the vast armies of bison which roamed the same Great Plains. But the enormous ranches which were once the home of countless bison and antelope are now fenced-in farms; the race of the bison almost went out of existence, and the antelope seemed destined to the same fate as the extinct passenger pigeon. A careful census a few years ago resulted in an estimate of fewer than 5,000 antelope, and those seemed doomed.

Most of the survivors ran the deserts of the southwest, but each year hunters searched for them in automobiles; even airplanes were called upon to find the vanishing herds. But the government took up the defense of the antelope. Efforts have been made to "plant" antelope in likely ranges whence they had vanished, as on the floor of the Grand Canyon, and hay has been provided for them when the snow lay deep. The antelope census of 1927 reported fewer than 7,000 in the national lands; last year the figure was 7,700; this year it is 8,500.

The bison has been rescued; the elk of the Yellowstone are increasing; the great moose, too, apparently can be made to come back. Beaver, once almost extinct in the northwest, have been "re-planted" and are now spreading, even within fifty miles of New York City. Probably ten times as many deer range the northwest today as there were a quarter century ago. There are farmers in Connecticut today, angry at the depredations of the protected deer, who never saw a deer before they were fifty years old. One of the few animals which seem definitely doomed to extinction, and that for reasons which even the scientists do not fully understand, is the grizzly bear. Two years ago the animal census reported 5,814 of the big bears; this year only 3,400—and that figure includes the Alaskan brown bears. A public awake to the facts, supporting government endeavors can restore something of the old abundance of wild life. But it requires effort.—New York Herald Tribune.

THE FIRST SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT.

New York Day By Day

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Diary of a modern Pepsy: Off in the early chill to buy a necktie for a gift and wound up, like a nunny, buying a dozen for myself. Came news from Lloyd Scholt that Russell Wilson, with whom I used to labour, has become Lord Mayor of Cincinnati, which pleased me mightily.

In the afternoon came a turbulent Oriental whose crest card announced him a Prince, and in a high flutter until he turned out to be a fortune teller. Nor have I ever been assailed by such a heavy odor of garlic, yet he proved interesting without.

Dined on a hash of turkey wings with green peppers at a public tavern, and saw Jimmy Walker in his satin-lapelled elegance. Also Mr. Warburg, the banker, Mr. Warren, the architect, and Mrs. Fiske, the play actress. So home to read Dr. Erskine's tome, "Sincerity."

Each incoming liner is guided up the harbor by a member of the New York Pilots' Association and in the same fashion is piloted on an outgoing trip to the open sea. Many of the pilots have not crossed the ocean.

Their knowledge concerns every inch of the harbor and the river. They have never been responsible for an accident and only two have died on duty. The pilot custom, although not at all essential to safe docking, was established in the 60's and, like train wheel taping, has endured.

Regular captains are just as capable to nose their craft to the final warping, and secretly they look upon the pilots with a shade of contempt. The first class pilot has to serve five years apprenticeship before acquiring his papers.

Texas Guinan, after leaving Broadway in a full-grown pout to tour in a musical show, has decided to open up another haunt. Her ridicule of Police Commissioner Whelan last year was followed by a swarm of his gendarmes dropping in to upset a few customers. This was reputed a mere compliment.

How To Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

APPETITE is an uncertain thing. In the average child the appetite is aroused by what we call "psychological factors" or it may be ruined by them.

Children are more emotional than grown-ups. They are easily influenced by small things, by their moods and "feelings." The delicious aroma of cooking will at once arouse the desire to eat, and just as suddenly some distressing occurrence will make the child refuse to eat.

The food he eats will not necessarily nourish the child unless it can be digested and assimilated by the body. If the child is all "upset" over something at mealtime, the digestive processes stop, and the food already eaten may do him more harm than good.

It is important that the circumstances under which the meal is taken should be pleasant, happy and cheerful. Some parents appear always to take the mealtime hour for correcting the manners and admonishing the child what to eat. This is a mistake. Firmness with the child is proper, of course.

Sometimes you may get the same results by simply taking his mind off himself by telling some pleasant story. You may do a lot by giving a happy talk about some person he is interested in, or what games are to be played. The important thing is to keep him in a happy frame of mind during the meal. It is well too, to see to it that the hour before mealtime is a happy and relaxed one.

I know of one family in which the parents are persons of large affairs, as well as people of wisdom. No matter how busy they are, no social affair or business engagement is so important that it cannot be put aside for the hour with the children from 5 to 6. They invariably spend this time with the youngsters. It is a happy hour, brimful with play and merry-making of some kind.

This practice will add years of good health for these children. It guarantees a happy frame of mind at mealtime and at bedtime. In all time to come they will think back upon this happy hour in the home circle.

Incidentally let us say, a daily hour like this is good for the parents. It keeps them well and happy. In order that your child may be properly nourished he must form good habits. What is just as essential he must form proper eating habits.

The foods should be eaten slowly enough to allow the digestive juices to do their work. Food "bolted" is worse than useless. How many children have this bad habit.

If children are not attentive to a parent's suggestion on this point, perhaps the family physician can take a hand. He may tell the child

The Reviewing Stand

By TOM T. JONES

ONE of the outstanding accomplishments of recent years in an engineering way appears to have been the building of the cement water ways in the creek of California Hollow alongside the Youngstown and Ohio railway and just off the former sandstone excavations of the hillside of Pleasant Heights.

The covered cement water mains have stood the test of time. Judging them are some huge stones that have rolled from the quarry above the stream. But the walls have not been pierced. The avenue appears to have been large enough to carry all of the water that passes to the river through it. In time doubtless it will be covered. Much land could be reclaimed were these mains continued to the Ohio river. In the end and years hence that will surely be done when the needs of a new day make such a departure imperative.

His latest published book, just off the press, has reached some East Liverpool residents from the offices of A. Earl Kernahan, its author, of Washington, D. C., who some time ago concluded an evangelistic campaign in this city, Wellsville and Chester.

Bearing the title, "Christian Citizenship and Visitation Evangelism," it is a companion volume to two others previously written by him, "Visitation Evangelism" and "Adventures In Visitation Evangelism," copies of which were used by several during his stay here.

This third work from his pen is dedicated to his daughter, Mildred Ruth Kernahan, who when but seven years of age chose, both by worship and work, to become an intelligent Christian.

In it appears a poem on "Life" which was written by his daughter, Mildred, when she was twelve years of age and "dedicated to Daddy." It has also another poem written and dedicated by Dr. Kernahan by David Fulmer Keely. It is entitled, "When Facing the Hard Task."

The volume carries a foreword by Daniel L. Marsh, LL.D., Litt.D., president of Boston University, in which he says: "Through its pages you hear a dead-in-the-ear man speaking. What he says about citizenship and social responsibility, points in the direction of practical values. What he says about Visitation Evangelism, is in harmony with the New Testament and rests upon a personal success that is the book's own best recommendation."

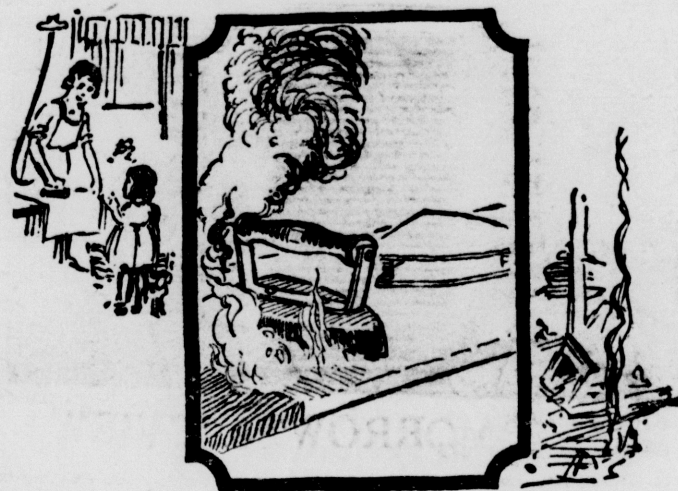

After an introductory meditation there are chapters upon "American Personality," "Conservation and Investment," "America's Best Citizen," "How to Make Christian Citizens," and others that lead up to the final one upon "Christian Conquest."

When he was in East Liverpool Dr. Kernahan was working upon the final proofs of this book. He referred to it in many of his addresses during his engagements and was eagerly looking forward to its appearance.

BOTH Mr. Humphries and Mr. Mahner spoke highly of the part which the students had taken in making and arranging some of the equipment used in the department. They also spoke in gracious appreciation of the cooperation extended by potteries in this locality, in the furnishing of materials for demonstration work.

There are on exhibition daily some very creditable pieces of work that is being done by the students.

STAGE QUAKES UNDER CHORUS GIRLS' RHYTHM

Seven-Ton Stress On Floor When Stomps Begin.

ROCK BUILDING

Special Platforms Built For Hollywood Scenes.

HOLLYWOOD—When is a chorus girl like an earthquake? When she is dancing on a sound stage with a hundred or more other chorus girls.

At any rate, that's the answer given by sound stage construction engineers, who have discovered that when a hundred and fifty chorus girls start tripping the light fantastic, there is not only a seven-ton stress on the floor at each stomp, but the whole building rocks dangerously, unless it is of special construction.

Chorus dancing may be fantastic, but it certainly is not light, say the engineers.

Make a building chorus girl proof and you make it earthquake proof, they declare.

It's the same old racket as the trotting dog swaying the bridge, or the soldiers breaking step when they march across a bridge. The rhythm is the thing.

When each chorus girl stomps, she put down a 30 pound stress. When a hundred and fifty do it, more than two tons of weight is suddenly dropped on the floor, and the constant rhythm creates terrific stresses on the stage, and causes vibrations which interfere with the delicate sound recording apparatus.

So, when RKO builds its new sound stages, they will be earthquake proof, not because Hollywood is afraid of earthquakes, but because earthquakes have a dangerous rival.

The "radio microphone" may be the next great sound recording invention. Hollywood sound engineers are working on a practical means of sending electro-sound vibrations from flying airplanes to a central recording plant on the ground below, eliminating all the complicated wiring now required to connect the microphones to the recording instruments, cameras, and power plants, all of which must be synchronized.

If the technique is developed sufficiently, it is planned to use it in Charles Rogers' forthcoming aviation picture.

Maybe James and Lucille Gleason can reform Hollywood by example.

Celebrating their twenty-third wedding anniversary the other day, the Gleasons, recent additions to the film colony, proved that it is possible for stage people to be married twenty-three years without changing mates, and still be happy.

Also, they testify that marriage and careers will mix.

Meeting in a stock company when both were under twenty, James and Lucille married and started off together on Theatrical careers. Since then, they have been partners in many stage projects, helping one another.

They declare the greatest thing about Hollywood is the opportunity for stage people to live in their own homes, instead of travelling about the country.

Bad weather has caused discontinuance of the air services between Berlin, Germany, and Moscow, Russia, and between Berlin and Leningrad.

CERAMIC BOOKS HOMELY COMEDY

"Wise Girls," a tremendously amusing small-town talking picture comedy, moved into the Ceramic theater today.

It's a jolly entertainment that has enough honest sentiment and homely atmosphere to make a good background for laughter.

The story centers around a moderately well-to-do family named Bence. "Pa" Bence is a retired business man, delightfully played by that genuinely great comedian, J. C. Nugent. He has married his elder daughter, Jane, to Ben Wade, a realtor, but still has Kate and Ruth on his hands.

Kate kicks up the traces by refusing to marry Duke Merrill, a wealthy suitor. She wants a "career" on the stage.

Into this situation is injected Kempy James, a young plumber who wants to be an architect. He comes to repair a pipe. Following a lovers' quarrel between Duke Merrill and Kate, Kate elopes with the bewildered Kempy, who is really smitten by the charms of Ruth. The remainder of the play is devoted to a very diverting untangling of this marriage, and the restoration of Kate to the arms of Duke Merrill, whom she really loves despite the rude way she treats him.

"HARD TO GET" EASY TO TAKE

Rehearsals Under Way for Minstrel Production to be Given By Community Club.

Some of the best sound recording and one of the most human, realistic celluloid yarns since the films became vocal unrolls at the State theater today and tomorrow. The film is called "Hard To Get," but it isn't hard to take. Dorothy Mackall stars in it for First National-Vitaphone.

Miss Mackall was never better, but even her most radical "fans" will have to admit that she owes a great deal to the wonderful teamwork of the supporting cast in "Hard To Get." What a "wow" of a cast for a talkie!

There's that young man, Charles Delaney, who plays opposite. He entered pictures as a stunt flier, having been a World war ace. Strange to say, although he has never been on the stage, the talking pictures brought him right to that pot of gold at the end of the film rainbow.

It's hard to beat the talking and celluloid miming of Louise Fazenda, Jack Oakie, James Finlayson, Edmund Burns and Clarissa Selwynne in any picture.

The story is a very human and amusing one of a New York maniac who leaves her parents' flat every morning to spend the day posing for millionaire's wives in clothes that only millionaires can afford. Consequently, morning and night, she stalks the elusive millionaire in the traffic jungles of Fifth Avenue.

The way in which she bags a garage mechanic by mistake is quite novel. "Hard To Get" is founded on the stage play, but evidently—and fortunately—it has been completely remodeled to fit it to the new medium of talking motion pictures.

That question is answered at the American theater where "Glorifying the American Girl" opened today.

Mary Eaton, herself a glorified Ziegfeld show girl who rose to the position of premier dancer for Flo Ziegfeld, plays the leading role, that of a tank-town girl, who makes good in the big Ziegfeld spectacles. Her ascendance of the ladder of success is attended by numerous sacrifices and heart-breaks. Excellent support is rendered by

"Owa-Ton-Na Proved to Be Just the Remedy I Needed," Says Local Woman.

Another remarkable victory for Owa-Ton-Na is the case of Mrs. Frederic Alimo, 861 Walnut street, East Liverpool, Ohio. She says: "I certainly was discouraged when I started to take Owa-Ton-Na as I had heard about everything that might help me and almost as a last resort, I took Owa-Ton-Na. You can imagine how anxiously I kept on taking it when I got some relief from the first bottle."

"Gradually I could feel my strength getting better when this fine old Indian Remedy got to work. Food didn't distress me as much and I could get some sleep at night. My bowels started to function normally, now they act regularly every day. My stomach feels fine. I can eat anything I want to and I don't suffer afterwards. My backaches are much better, kidneys are acting normally and my bladder trouble has disappeared. Headaches and dizzy spells are gone, in fact I feel like a new woman. I can't praise Owa-Ton-Na too highly. It has done me more good than all the other medicines I have taken put together."

So, one after another come stories of praise where Owa-Ton-Na has relieved suffering. Many times this suffering has been going Owa-Ton-Na is sold in East Liverpool at Carnahan's 114 East Sixth Street Store and East End Store. It is also obtainable in Newell, W. Va., at Carnahan's Drug Store.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

BY JOAN.

Just a few more hours and that night of high hopes and eager expectations will be here — Ahh Christmas Eve — when all good girls and boys are off to bed early and stockings are hung by the chimney with care, hoping St. Nicholas soon will be there. Lights shine brighter and faces too; human shortcomings mysteriously disappear at Christmas, making it truly a season of peace on earth, goodwill to men. I take this opportunity to wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

I certainly agree with that lady who said "Every one should give themselves a Christmas present." And the very best sort of one is a course of beauty treatments. Simply make up your mind that out of each week's salary is to come a Mariello Facial at The Stern Beauty Shoppe. Better still — buy one of their gift certificates out-right — entitling you to a permanent of the most successful type or a series of Marcel or water waves. Stern Beauty Shoppe beauticians are experts in every branch of beauty culture and sponsor the methods of famous specialists.

What home will not welcome a comfortable fireside chair — a graceful console table for the living room or hall — one of the ultra-modern smoking stands or a handsome bridge lamp with an interesting parchment shade? A gift of furniture is at once a practical and a luxurious present — any one knows that. But we are just pausing long enough to tell you that Crook's have the most complete collection of inexpensive pieces — those very things that add so much charm and coziness to a room. Just drop in and see their display on the main floor. You too will want to join the happy company of those who give well and wisely.

Christmas problems are distressing at this late date — but just step into Lemmer's tomorrow morning and see how quickly and joyously your problems vanish. Just the gifts that every woman wants (and should have) — beautiful catches things that snatch at feminine hearts and win adoration both for the giver and the receiver. We wouldn't for the world direct your choice but we're simply dying to point out those gorgeous quilted robes and hostess gowns — beautiful lingerie — dainty, aristocratic bits of silk in pastel hues. And hoisery in gift boxes bearing Belding and Gordon names to signify their fine quality. Such thoughtful and useful gifts and so many of them at Lemmer's. And if you can't solve those remaining problems on your gift list from this display, well there's no use wishing me Merry Xmas, that's all.

Will the shopping colony please stand by while we make several more announcements? Oglivie's have replenished their stock of men's shirts for this last minute rush. An exploratory incision revealed to us these interesting facts — there's a generous assortment of sizes in plain colors and striped effects. Some have collars attached and others are the neck-band styles with matching collars. We've never known a man who thought he had too many shirts — so you can buy them by the three and half dozens with utter assurance they'll receive a rousing cheer and a hearty welcome. You'll find them on the Main Floor Annex.

We've instructed the sales force in Carnahan's Sixth St. store that if any of our friends come in with Mrs. Ernest Brereton received members of the Wyoming club at her home in the Lincoln highway, when a Christmas party was held. An exchange of gifts took place, after which a short business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. William Greer. A guessing contest was won by Mrs. Edwin Bailey and George Riley, and selections were given by a quartet composed of Nevada Brereton, Margaret Williams, Joseph and Willis Kenney. A Christmas reading was given by Mrs. Grace Massey, and a vocal solo by Mrs. Percy Calhoun.

Covers were arranged for 14 a wondering, "what on earth shall I get her" look on their faces, they should immediately be led right up to see our favorite Letherie display of powders, make-up boxes, compacts, toilet water, and perfumes. And then that our friends be given a very convincing suggestion that they certainly would appreciate a vial (be it ever so tiny) of Letherie's Miracle perfume. It's fragrance is exquisite to say the least.

Uncle Walt — Dad — the boy friend — not one on your list will have to tell you a little fib this Christmas if you buy their gifts at Frank Diamond's. They have an unusually attractive line of robes, house coats and sweaters besides the many little items that a man includes in his wardrobe — kerchiefs and tie sets — pajamas — cravats — scarfs — and the most complete assortment of men's gloves we've seen anywhere. If you want to give him a gift he will be proud to show and glad to wear — I'd suggest you buy it at Frank Diamond's.

Of course there are many fine ways to express love and appreciation but one of the grandest ways to say "Merry Christmas" — is to send flowers from the Jolly Kell Co. A bouquet to a sick friend — some floral piece to grace the Christmas dinner table or a lovely corsage. Place your order with the Kell florists — Their list of cut flowers includes roses, carnations, valley lilies, violets, sweet peas and callulles. The prices were quoted to us and really they are the lowest we've heard for years. The poinsettia and cyclamen plants are beautiful. You should see them! — Adv.

"The Home of the $5 Permanent"

Merry Christmas folks, we are wishing you the very merriest Christmas you ever had with health, wealth and lots of happiness thrown in for good measure.

Health because it is the first essential to beauty. Wealth, while it is not so important, yet it is a great assistance in obtaining the beautiful surroundings that aid to set off your personal charm and happiness.

Oh, how wonderfully we all appreciate the great ability to be happy, to radiate happiness to those with whom we come in contact. And let us give you a tip from our note book, originality or the mere act of being oneself is another asset that should never be overlooked.

If the sunflower so tall does not dress like a lily,
If for a June rose to act like a violet is silly,
If this logic so true applies to the flowers,
It is even more true in the small world of ours.

WELLSVILLE'S COUNCIL FACES BALLOT ISSUE

Must Act on Peters-Grafton Contest on Jan. 7. SEEK NEW CLERK Five in Race for Berth Now Held by Mayor-elect.

WELLSVILLE — When the new council meets for re-organization on Tuesday night, January 7, it will be confronted with the election contest between Charles S. Peters, Republican, and John H. Grafton, Democrat, as well as the election of a new clerk to succeed George Hardman who will be sworn in as mayor on Wednesday, January 1.

The members of council, according to the ruling of Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, must pass on the election contest and they will determine in their own manner how the recount of the ballots shall proceed. It is possible that the votes will be tabulated at a regular meeting or an extra session may be called for the purpose.

The election fight between Peters and Grafton was the closest here in many years with the latter being returned a winner on the official count by the margin of one vote. Certain irregularities in the conduct of the election were alleged by Peters in his petition for a recount of the ballots which was unanimously granted by the solons.

FRENCH FILMS HIT BY TAXES

Movie Producers Plan Campaign On Rates After Visit To Hollywood.

By International News Service. PARIS—French movie producers are going "to steal some of Hollywood's stuff" if they can obtain tax relief, but in the meantime American producers "are stealing a march on them" by making talks in several different languages for exportation.

The French film men, headed by Rene Lebreton, a movie critic, have just returned from a visit en masse from the Pacific Coast studios with an impression that American productions cannot be beat. "Our development in France is arrested by the heavy taxation on the film industry and also by the fact that eight per cent of the population regularly patronize movies whereas in the United States ninety per cent are fans." The French group announced that they will open a campaign for more favorable taxes.

PASTOR LAUDS PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WORK

Two Million Persons
Enrolled, Dr. F. A.
Dean Says.

50-YEAR STORY

Rev. R. C. Beechley
Speaks on Yule
Subject.

That the denomination now has a membership of two million souls in America and last year spent $65,000,000 in benevolences was pointed out by the Rev. F. A. Dean at the Second Presbyterian church yesterday morning. His subject was "Presbyterians At Work."

dia and Japan than by any other evangelical faith. "We have a hospital in San Juan, Porto Rico, in which 45,000 persons were treated last year," he said. "Then the Presbyterians have a hospital established at Point Barrow, 300 miles within the Arctic Circle, reaching the farthest point north of any in gospel work. "There is no place upon the inhabited earth where the Presbyterians are not active in missionary labors."

"In the establishment of schools and colleges and the building of hospitals in conjunction with the departure of carrying the gospel the Presbyterians are leading every one."

Because of a hoarseness to his voice due to illness, the Rev. Dean postponed until next Sunday his discourse, "The Glory of the Incarnation."

Penn Avenue M. E. Scientific disclosures of the possibility of a light being seen that made it possible for men of the east to follow it some 1,900 years ago and find Christ lying in a Bethlehem manger was disclosed in a discourse by the Rev. R. C. Beechley, pastor of the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church yesterday morning.

He told of the finding by the astronomer Kepler in 1604 of the conjunction of the planets Jupiter and Saturn every 800 years. He did so upon its thus second cycle at ter the birth of Christ, which would place the star that the wise men followed as occurring some 1,600 years previously. He spoke upon "The Wise Men and the Star."

He noted the anger of King Herod at hearing of a possible rival and the indifference of the scribes who did not feel it at all necessary to hunt for the King themselves. All of this, he contended, aided in the wise men being able to follow the light, to them a star, catching it again after its temporary dimming, and proceeding to Bethlehem.

"How these wise men found out about the child being a King as they doubtless were heathen men can only be explained by the belief that God in some manner gave them this information," the Rev. Mr. Beechley said.

St. Stephen's Episcopal. "The sermon that serves the hearer to feel that he is good or bad is the kind that he should hear; it is not enough to feel that a discourse is fine," asserted the Rev. Russell K. Caulk, rector, at the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, West Fourth street, yesterday morning as he spoke of John the Baptist being "a voice in the wilderness."

"It was such a sermon that the forerunner of Christ preached," he said. "It caused men and women to ask what they should do. Repentance was given as their need plus the duty that is that of His followers to follow God," he said.

Announcement was made of a service at 11:30 o'clock on Tuesday evening when communion will be given and an anthem sung.

"And though there are but fragments of this sermon of John the Baptist remaining, these are still being preached upon," he observed. "John doubtless would be amazed to know that his sermon had survived all of this time."

He said that a preacher preaches through this message and personality. Nothing, he held, was so persuasive and striking as one's own life. "One who is a true man of God will be a man of convictions, a prophet and a preacher with a message, indeed, he will be a veritable voice from the throne of God."

He stressed the need of followers of God doing their duty as such. "To be a helper of God and a Christian means the same thing," he averred.

"So many in the church of God these days are indifferently good. They are not very good or very bad. They are self-complacent in their indifference. This casual attitude makes for a negligible situation that is often negative."

"In a sense this is better than being bad but it is not the ideal which Christ exemplified in his own life. "Christ did all that a good citizen can do. We must get away from the philosophy that a dead cat does not matter so long as it is not upon our own doorstep. It is being gradually inculcated upon the human mind that every man and woman, beginning at the cradle, must go about doing good by constant consecutive effort. We are to help God in His plan by helping others."

Emmanuel Presbyterian. "Jesus Christ is not only with us but He is for us if we but follow Him," declared the Rev. E. A. Walker, the pastor, at the Emmanuel Presbyterian church, Park boulevard, yesterday morning when he spoke upon the theme, "Emmanuel, God With Us."

"God is with us in our work and our every activity of life," he pointed out. "He is not a distant God. He does not live apart in a tent as He once did. He can be approached by every individual soul who would know Him. He is not secluded in any holy of holies place."

"We have come to know Him by revelation. God sent his only Son into the world to reveal himself to humanity. In Him we see the Father. The Son became flesh and dwelt among us. We thus study Jesus Christ to know God."

"Man has ever sought God and God has sought man. It has been a mutual search. It is instinctive for man to worship. He must worship some one."

"There are and have been false religions. These carry a modicum of truth by which the religious instinct is maintained. But such is not satisfactory to God or man. These finally fail. We know God through Jesus Christ. By Him revealed we come to realize his ever presence. To Him thus we can ever go realizing that the while He is with us here and now. In a real personal sense it is ours to know and feel that Emmanuel is God with us."

Church of Christ. Referring to declarations made by the prophets Isaiah and Daniel, the Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the First Church of Christ, outlined the kingdom of God in a discourse upon the subject, "The Fulfillment of Prophecy" at the service yesterday morning.

In the evening a pageant, "The Wonderful Word" was given by members of the Sunday school.

"Isaiah spoke of the kingdom that would be built upon which Christ would sit upon the throne," the Rev. Mr. Baker said. "It was declared to be one in which there should be justice, equality and mercy. He lived in a town upon which sat a king upon a throne but justice was lacking. He envisioned a kingdom in which Christ, coming, would sit upon a throne in which the things then lacking would be supplied."

"Daniel saw one like the Son of Man coming in the clouds from heaven to the Ancient of days to whom the Ancient of days gave the power, dominion and right to sit upon the throne of a kingdom in which all of these would prevail as righteousness abounded."

"To all is possible entrance into this kingdom thus described by these prophets. The kingdom now is a reality. And there can be abundant entrance into it by a simple faith in the Christ."

First United Presbyterian. How the divine nature of the Christ was circumscribed by that which is human in order to indicate the value of a human soul was discussed by the Rev. L. J. Davidson, the pastor, at the First United Presbyterian church yesterday morning. His theme was "The Sign of the Christ."

In the evening he spoke briefly. A special program of music was given by the choir. Miss Anna McLean was the accompanist.

"The human soul is so great in value as to cause God to clothe His Son in human form to accentuate it," the Rev. Mr. Davidson said. "And through this circumscribing of the divine by the human nature He draws men to Him. This act blazes the trail for salvation. It makes for a panacea for sin. It transforms human lives."

African Methodist Episcopal. To the down-trodden, the lowly, the oppressed and all those handicapped and marred by sin, Jesus Christ came into the world as a Saviour," said the Rev. J. D. Sinclair, the pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal church, West Ninth street, yesterday morning. His subject was "The Birth of Christ."

In the evening service members of the Sunday school of the church gave a pageant which was under the general direction of S. E. Jackson, the superintendent.

Predictions of the coming of the Christ into the world were initially given by the Rev. Mr. Sinclair, his quotations being from Genesis to and including the prophets. "And His name shall be Emmanuel," he quoted from Isaiah and "Unto you a child is born, unto you a Son is given."

He noted also the purpose of the coming of the Christ into the world. "It was not to condemn but to save the world," he declared.

ZOOKMEN CONQUER ALUMNI ALL STARS, 21-8

Potters' Triumph Decisive

Hold Graduate Combine to Two Field Goals.

It was a bad night for the Alumni Saturday. Springing a decided reversal of fate, Coach Earl Zook's school quint triumphed over the graduates, 21 to 8, on the school court Saturday night.

The victory was emphatic by reason of the fact that the Alumni lineup brought together a real all-star aggregation culled from graduates of the last two years.

But two field goals and four fouls represented the total scoring permitted by the Zookmen.

The school boys passed well, had possession of the ball probably three-fourths of the game and wasted but few shots.

Elmer English's field goal was the sole score made by the Alumni in the opening quarter as the Zookmen were gathering eight. The graduates had their best inning in the second period when they scored four to the school five's one. But the Potters spurred in the third and the final periods, getting six points in each canto while the Alumni were blanked in the third and held to two points in the final.

Chetwin led the scorers with six points. Bowen got four and Reese five. In the third period, Coach Zook began to pull his varsity out and before the game was over 15 high school lads had taken part in the triumph.

School Lads Start Early.
The Alumni came on the floor clad in pajamas of variegated hues copped from the grips of the Potter travelers of the night before. Captain Bob Witherow started Davey Felt and Howard Lindell at the forwards, Elmer English at center, and Witherow and McConville on the guards. Reese and Brown were in the scoring positions for high school, Chetwin at center, Lane and McConville the guards.

Reese and Bowen made nice tries from about 20 feet out, both rimming. English broke the ice with one from the foul line for two points. Reese was fouled by Witherow to score high school's first point. The McConville brothers jumped for the ball and Harry was fouled by Franner, the former counting. Bowen potted one from the corner and Reese followed with a midcourt shot on the following tip-off, making the score 6-2, high school.

Chetwin bagged one from the corner as the quarter ended. The score was 8-2.

Burbick replaced English at center. Wildblood and Small went to the forwards, Bloor and Menge to the guards for alumni at the start of the second quarter. Small made one out of two fouls for the first point of the period, with three minutes gone. Burbick a moment later scored another. Burbick bagged one on the run and the Alumni scores mounted. It was 8-6. Snape and Ashbaugh went to the forwards, Dalrymple to center, Clark and Simpson to the guards for high school. They began playing a defensive game. Skidmore replaced Menge at guard for the Alumni. Snape dropped in high school's first point of the period, with a half-minute left to play, on one out of two foul chances. The count was 9-6, high school, at the end of the half.

Play Man-for-Man Game.
Bowen, Reese, Chetwin, McConville and Lane for high school were back on the court as the third period started. The Alumni lineup remained as it was. The Alumni started a man-for-man game and action was speeded up. Chetwin bagged two in succession, one from under the basket and the other from 15 feet out for the opening points of the quarter. The Alumni defense was enticed out by Chetwin's first bucket and he was well under for a rather clear shot. Bowen scored under the basket, was fouled on the shot and missed both charity throws. The Alumni changed their entire lineup, Lindell and Felt going back on forwards, English at center and Witherow and F. McConville at guards. The count was 15-6 at the end of the period.

Reese dazzled the court with a one-hand toss after the tip-off. High school was playing largely a defensive game except when opportunity was presented for a drive into scoring territory, being intent on keeping possession of the ball. The Alumni, on the other hand, constantly employed a man-to-man system which didn't permit the game to get stale. Witherow scored one out of two fouls. Lane dribbled down the side line to score. The Alumni was shooting from long range. Three minutes to go and the score was 19-7. Dalrymple, Ashbaugh, Simpson, Clark and Snape took the regular's places with two minutes to go. Fanner made one out of two fouls to make the score 19-8. Ashbaugh retaliated with a field goal, raising the ante to 21-8. Kelly, F. Smith, Witherow, Mullen and Althar of the Reserve squad trotted onto the court with a minute to go and another squad of high passers went to the showers.

Miller Sextet Winner

High School Maids Defeat Graduates, 64-8.

FLASHING a well organized passing attack and a whole bevy of marksmen who swarmed over the baskets for point after point, Miss Miller's high school cage sextet literally smothered the Alumnae Saturday night on the high school floor, rolling up 64 points, which is probably a record, or at least as far as memory serves, while holding the opposition to eight points.

The outcome was apparent from the first few moments and the only question was the size of the score. Had Gert Grumet been out of the Alumnae lineup, the graduates possibly would have gone scoreless. The eight points chalked up for the former school girls were scored by Miss Grumet on three field goals and two fouls.

Kate Steffan led the scoring for the high sextet, sinking nine field goals. Ruth Cooper collected six and a foul; Mackey five and a foul; Wooley four and a foul; Johnson three and a foul and Townley three; a total of 39 field goals and four fouls.

High school was racing ahead by an 18-2 count at the end of the first period. Grumet's two fouls saving the graduates from a shut out. Steffan had five field goals in this period.

Grumet made the first Alumnae field goal in the second period. Cooper, one of a number of reserves sent into the high school lineup, rang up four consecutive field goals. The count was 39-6 at the half. Cooper finished the period with five two-pointers.

The tally mounted to 44-6 at the end of the third period and continued to grow proportionately as the game continued.

he was the best forward passer of the football season just ended. Wood came to Harvard in 1928 from Milton Academy, where he had been the best all-around athlete in his class. While at Milton he learned his gridiron game under the watchful eye of Harvard's never-to-be-forgotten Charlie Buell. For two years Barry Wood barked signals for undefeated Milton Academy eleven.

Barry also played on the Milton baseball nine in 1925-26-27 and made a name for himself as a shortstop and a batter. At Harvard he won his berth at short on the freshman baseball team and was known as the home run king of the outfit. He hit for more than 400.

Although two major sports would seem enough for any one player, Wood is more ambitious. No sooner had the Harvard football season ended with 10 to 6 victory over Yale, than Barry Wood started thinking about hockey. He was among the first candidates to report to Coach Joe Stubbins for a place on the varsity six. Now it looks as if he would make it on one of the wings. If he does it will be his fourth season on the ice.

On Davis Cup Squad
Not content with being a member of Harvard's tennis team, Wood has gone farther on the courts until his latest achievement has caused him to be named a member of the Davis Cup squad. As in the case of his other sports, his tennis began back in the days at Milton Academy. He is now 17th in the national ranking list.

Barry Wood is also one of the best junior golfers in the country. He shows his vocation on the links. Wood has had famous com-

Jack - Max Bout Next Big Plum

Promoters' War Looms on Heavy Scrap.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—An ex-champion of the world, a baseball club owner, a multi-million dollar corporation, the proprietor of a Broadway night club and a couple of bright young men associated with him were playing cut-throat today over the only $1,000,000 prize that boxing possibly can sponsor. The prize in question was the Jack Sharkey-Max Schmelling fight this summer for the world's heavyweight championship, an event that can't miss, either as an event or as a financial hole in one.

So today we find Jack Dempsey over in a corner whispering with Charles A. Stoneham about the Polo grounds; the Madison Square Garden striving desperately to hold Sharkey after his Miami contract expires; and the night club man, Bill Duffy, announcing that Schmelling will meet somebody in Atlantic City and that the latter might be Sharkey. It might, at that, under somewhat altered conditions.

Sharkey is about due to break with the Garden, unless it can produce Schmelling for a title fight before the end of the outdoor season and, the way things are now, it won't produce Schmelling before the end of mankind. Duffy and his associates, Herman Taylor and Bobby Gunnis, have Schmelling at the moment but nobody to fight him. They announced last night that they had postponed their Schmelling date from February 22 to March 29 at Atlantic City and talked about doing business with Sharkey.

If they show him Schmelling, they can do business with Sharkey but not on March 29 and possibly not at Atlantic City. Sharkey is liable to be anybody's man, if Schmelling and a good outdoor site go with the proposal. They might have neither if the Schmelling fight late in March goes wrong and it is a bit difficult to see how it can go right. If the $25,000 that Schmelling is supposed to get isn't printed on carbon paper, they are said to have a 60,000-capacity arena at Atlantic City, provided each ticket entitled the holder to a chance on an oil well or something.

The alternative would be to furnish Schmelling with a real opponent, which completes the vicious circle and brings us back to Sharkey. They will have to pay him at least as much as Schmelling or he won't play. So much for Atlantic City. Taylor and Gunnis operated last summer at the Sesqui stadium in Philadelphia where the first Dempsey-Tunney fight drew around a couple of millions. Maybe they can go back with this one.

However, I doubt whether a Sharkey-Schmelling fight is worth a million anywhere outside of New York. The rest of the country is only nominally interested in this pair but they would go for them in a large way here.

Wood is high in his studies and president of the Harvard Class of 1932, a combination that seekers of ideal American youth rave about.

Edwards To Meet Roberts

Chester Welter in Motor Square Semi-final Jan. 1.

FISTIC opportunity is tentatively tapping with a sledge-hammer on the door of Freddy Edwards, Chester welterweight.

Matchmaker Jules Beck of Motor Square Garden Saturday definitely completed negotiations with Ray Foutts, who represents Edwards, for an eight-round semi-final on Jan. 1 in Motor Square with Hans Roberts, the Dutch welter.

The Roberts bout is the biggest shot that Edwards has ever faced in his two years of fighting and it the West Virginian makes good, he will automatically unlock the door to plenty of bouts and serious money in the western Pennsylvania district.

Beck and Foutts have been haggling over the match for a couple of weeks. The Pittsburgh matchmaker offered a figure at first which did not suit Edwards' man of business, especially in view of the fact that the bout is good for a semi-final in Motor Square. Beck finally added a fourth of his original price and the match was closed.

Roberts invaded the Pittsburgh district several months ago, beating Dominick Proffo, Young Rudy and others in this weight division. Tommy Malco, the rugged Soho welter, was the only one of the batch to trim the Dutchman.

Edwards, who usually puts on the gloves for a couple of days before his fights, is going on a rigid training program for this battle.

Laud Church Work

The apostle John explained the reason thereof. "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save those who are lost," he quoted from Matthew and from another gospel writer: "He came not to be ministered unto but to minister."

"And so the birth of Christ is the most significant event known to mankind," he concluded. "It guarantees our future, maintains our present lives and explains fully that which has occurred in the past."

First Presbyterian.

"If we look to God and have faith in Him by giving ourselves to him we shall have the answer to all things," declared the Rev. Dr. J. H. Lawther, the pastor, at the First Presbyterian church here yesterday morning. He reveals himself today to those who watch and look for him just as he did to the shepherds when the Savior was born in Bethlehem.

"All nations have holidays but Christmas is transcendent above all of the others. We celebrate it because it notes the coming from heaven of Christ to be for a period among men."

"It is well to celebrate the Fourth of July because of the liberty thus vouchsafed us. We celebrate the birth of Christ because of our deliverance from sin. Without this celebration of Christ's birth all would be as naught."

Members of the church's chorus, directed by W. A. Macdonald of Crafton, Pa., supplemented his sermonette with a program of song. They sang three anthems, "Christmas Song (Contique De Noel)" by Adolphe Adam; "Carol of the Russian Children," by Harvey B. Gaul and "Silent Night, Holy Night," by V. E. Decker.

A tenor also was sung by Rowland B. Kaufman, "The New Born King," by Charles L'Espeir. Solo parts in the anthems sung were taken by J. O. Heddleston and Le-land Pittenger.

During the offertory J. Wilbur Newman sang "Hallelujah, Christ is Born," by J. W. Bishoff.

In the evening the elementary and beginners' department of the Sunday school gave a scripture pageant which was followed by the presentation of white Christmas offerings and books.

Pageant at M. E. Church.

With antiphonal singing as one of the features of a pageant, "The Christmas Bells," was given by members of the First Methodist Episcopal church last night. In the initial part, "The Call to Worship" preceded "The Promise of the Prophets." The Angelus was shown in living picture. A large crowd attended.

The pageant included also living pictures of Moses and Elijah. In the second part the living pictures were of "The Manger," "The Song of the Angels," "The Eastern King," "The Children's Home," "When Twilight Falls" and others. "The Message of the Bells" in story, was told by Mrs. H. M. La-cock.

During the morning service the choir, directed by the Rev. C. R. Loney, appeared in vestments. They sang two anthems, "Christ- mas," by Henry Skelley, and "Calm on the Listening Ear," by Bridge.

Miss Helen Boyd Sant sang a solo, "Around the Manger," by Mrs. Beach.

White service gifts were presented during the evening. Several persons went forward for consecration during the coming year. A baby, Esther Naomi Myler, was similarly consecrated to the church, the prayer being made by the Rev. Dr. W. O. Hawkins, the pastor.

Announcement was made of a pageant, "The Nativity," to be given by the Epworth League on next Sunday evening, a Christmas tree celebration for children tonight and watch night services to usher in New Year on the final night of 1929.

GUILD TRIES REVOLUTION BUT ITS DRAMA LACKS BIG PUNCH

State Presentation of Love Triangle Becomes Dictionary Dramatization.

By DAVID P. SENTNER
International News Service
Dramatic Editor
(Copyright, 1929, by International News Service)
NEW YORK—Speaking of talkies, the Theater Guild went conventional in its latest play "Game of Love and Death" by Romain Rolland.
What purported to be a stage presentation of a love triangle in the French Revolution turned out to be a dreary dramatization of the dictionary (translated from the French).
I had always suspected that the French Revolution was an exciting event. However, there was hardly enough pink in this presentation to stimulate an anaemic bull.

The story is of young Claude Vallee (Otto Kruger) who was oratorically defiant to the reign of terror. He hid himself from the fury of the tri-color cockades in the home of the married woman he loved, Sophie de Courvoisier (Alice Brady).
The husband bespeaks that he will die so that his wife and her lover may have the world to themselves. If he merely done it, it would have been for the dramatic. Instead, he talks of what he thinks and is going to do until the audience dies a thousand times before him.
Rouben Mamoulian, back from movieland, directed the piece and did what he could with the script as did Miss Brady and Mr. Kruger. Despite which, it all sounded like the Marseillaise played as a funeral march.

The production reminded me of a table escapade I suffered with a French family. After a comfortable dinner, the guests gathered in the parlor and began a lively discussion. My knowledge of rapid French being limited, I merely nodded by head vigorously when my amiable host looked questioningly in my direction.
Each guest spoke feelingly enthusiastically, with gusto and with restraint. I could deduce easily from the shades of tone in fashion that there were pathos, satire, imagery, vehemence and deep-seated convictions contained in the various utterances. This lasted for an hour.
After which time, I timidly asked an English-speaking someone what the issues were at stake.
"We are discussing the weather, monsieur," he explained.

MIDLAND MILL SOCIETY PACKS YULE BASKETS

Relief Unit To Aid 50 Families In District.
SANTA IS BUSY
Legion And Other Organizations Send Gifts.

MIDLAND—The Employees' Relief and Beneficial association of the Pittsburgh Crucible Steel company will essay the role of Santa Claus tomorrow when they will distribute about 50 baskets of food to needy families in the Steel City. The relief unit will also send fruit to workmen who have been injured or are ill.
Midland post No. 481, American Legion, Civic and Rotary club and the Serbian Benefit society, as well as many individuals, will aid other families. Food, clothing, toys and books are among the articles which will be placed in the Christmas packages.
The St. Vincent de Paul society, of which Burgess Charles McNeill is president, has collected discarded clothing for the needy. The proceeds from the bowling alleys in the Lyceum hall of the Presentation Catholic church were turned over to the society last month, to be used to supply fuel and food to various homes.
The Midland Civic club gave a treat Saturday afternoon in the Lincoln high school for 1630 boys and girls. Joseph Seiter, Pittsburgh magician, appeared in two performances. Candy and fruit were distributed.

THREE GIVEN JAIL TERMS

Another Pays $100
Liquor Fine At Beaver.

BEAVER—James Valetti, Beaver Falls, was fined $1 and costs and sentenced to serve 30 days in the county jail and ordered to make restitution to the amount of $85 when he pleaded guilty here Saturday to charges of malicious mischief, aggravated assault and battery and surety of the peace. Joseph Zirak, Beaver Falls, who preferred the charges, said Valetti had broken windows, locks and doors in his house. Mrs. Caroline Regeldin, also of Beaver Falls, who rented the house from Zirak, alleged Valetti attacked her with an ice-pick.
C. R. Tate, Ambridge, was assessed $100 and costs and placed on probation for two years after pleading guilty to a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated.

A. G. Stone, charged with possessing liquor was fined $1 and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail when he entered a plea of guilty. Alex Susak, Pulaski township, who was paroled two years ago on a liquor law violation, was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail when he pleaded guilty to a breach of the parole. State police allege they found a still in operation on his farm last month.

REPLEVIN ACTION FILED.
LISBON—Through his counsel W. W. Beck of Lisbon, William Custer has filed an action in replevin in common pleas court against Sheriff W. J. Barlow, seeking the return of a list of chattels and livestock taken in execution in the case of Orin Harsh against E. E. Starkey and others.

SUES FOR DIVORCE.

Building

I am building my mansion;
O God, tell me how,
For I'm building for time
And eternity now.
The mansion I build
Must be free from a flaw;
Made with tools much more precious
Than hammer and saw.
When my building is finished
I can't tear it down;
It must stand through the ages
My efforts to crown.
Oh, then let me build
Of material the best,
That the building when finished
May stand the great test!

And let me behold,
As its columns rise high,
Pointing upward its spires
To the sun tinted sky.
A building so great
And so perfect and true
That 'twill show 'twas the best
That the builder could do.
Let me build on foundation
Both solid and strong,
And gladden my work
With a soul cheering song;
And may I have built
When from labor I rest,
A building well fitted
For God as my guest!
—Dr. E. F. Larkins.

The Work's Done
Quickly and It's Done Right.

Almost anyone can sling a load of boxes, a bale of hay or similar non-breakables into a truck and haul them from one place to another.

But everyone can't truck furniture, fragile goods and similar equipment demanding extreme care and skill in handling, so successfully.

A scratch can ruin the value of a piece of furniture. And there are many ways of despoiling other goods in the act of transportation.

You avoid all of this when Al Bloor is your transfer man.

Bloor specializes in contract hauling and city transfer operations, but he doesn't overlook any work in which time permits him to do. Bloor hauls for a large number of district factories and business houses, but is willing to tackle almost any job.

The transfer business has moved ahead, has progressed and kept step with other lines. The transfer plays a vital and extremely essential part in the world of commerce and industry. It has developed from the "one-hoss shay" period to the era of high speed trucks and high speed schedules.

Bloor is efficiently equipped in motive and man power to meet the most exacting demands and years of experience in the transfer line have qualified him to supervise the movement of his fleet. Your hauling is safe from beginning to end and you will find Bloor courteous and reasonable in every respect. His phone number is 2348. Call him the next time.

Shoes Shabby? Fix 'Em Up At Galipo's

Well Dressed Appearance Demands Neat,
Well Kept Footwear; Galipo Equipped to Handle Any Job.

Modern methods and machinery have eliminated the difficulties, the expense and the general unsatisfactory results of the art of "cobbling" as it was practiced in the days when the shoe repair man performed his tasks laboriously by hand.

He could do less work and what he did do generally lacked the polish, figuratively as well as literally, as the modern machine era achieves.

Outstanding examples of this latter type of work are produced daily at Joe Galipo's shop, 131 East Fourth street, just across from the Y. M. C. A.

Almost every one who has had occasion to visit the cobbler is acquainted, in a business way, at least, with Galipo. The shoe repairer has operated here for a number of years. He, too, graduated from the old hand method of fixing shoes. But he has adequately kept step with the demands of progress in his own particular field.

His modern equipment shop, combining the utility, speed and precision of machinery with the skill and personal touch of the hand, is constantly in operation.

Shoes are a vital part of one's dress ensemble. Just as a shabby hat, or a ragged coat may utterly ruin the appearance, so may run-down, unkempt footwear produce the same effect, and, possibly, to a greater degree.

Shoes are displayed prominently when one is sitting and folks unconsciously inspect them on the street. You may attire yourself in the finest of togs and look no better than you would in overalls if you neglect your shoes.

Considering the fact that the cost of repairing shoes is so little in comparison to the benefits and advantages to be derived, there is little reason for wearing ill-kept footwear.

It really makes little difference about the job itself. Galipo is superbly equipped for half-soles, building on heels, sewing and other work. The shoes of the children can be made to provide additional service after a visit to Galipo's. Women's slippers and pumps can be renewed if there is anything at all to work on.

Galipo's service is general but every job is guaranteed.

MacLean Funeral Service Reaches High Standards

Wellsville Directors
Capable, Courteous
And Trust-inspiring;
Use Only Most Modern Equipment.

A funeral service, to be effective and in keeping with the wishes and desires of those vitally interested, must be carried out exactly in every detail. There must be no mistakes, however small or apparently insignificant. The service will brook no errors. In no other ceremony, probably, are these characteristics so pronounced.

And the burden rests with the funeral director. From the moment he takes charge until he concludes his duties, supervision of every detail largely is left in his hands. Every difficulty must be overcome, every situation must be met successfully and to the satisfaction of every one.

D. N. MacLean, Wellsville, has established a record of unimpeachable service for many, many years in his community and district, and not without reason.

In skill of handling, in point of instant, courteous and comprehensive service as well as equipment, the MacLean funeral parlors are rated highly throughout eastern Ohio.

Their funeral home is modern throughout, providing parlors, waiting rooms, chapel for services, and everything that is necessary for all occasions.

Their motive service affords the latest, most comfortable and safest equipment possible, more than sufficient to handle every emergency.

Their ambulance service is available at any hour of the day or night.

OATH DISPUTE GOES TO COURT

Geneva College Chief Asks Ruling On Allegiance.

BEAVER—Dr. Robert Clarke, vice-president of the Geneva college, Beaver Falls, has carried his fight for permission to take a modified oath of allegiance to the state supreme court. Attorney George A. Baldwin said today.

An appeal from the decision of Judge William A. McConnell, of the Beaver county court, who denied Dr. Clarke's petition, has been filed in the Pittsburgh office of the prothonotary of the supreme court. Dr. Clarke, native of Ireland, took his final examination in the naturalization court here on August 30. Dr. Clarke who is member of the Reformed Presbyterian church of North America, declared the oath must read that he would support the Constitution of the United States "as long as it does not interfere with my loyalty to Jesus Christ."

Quickly Sweetens Sour Stomach

Vast Multitudes Rely on ORANGE ROOT to Sweeten and Tone Up Sick, Sour Stomachs

Mr. Earle McGee, 909 Washington ave., Charleston, W. Va., says: "I have had the worst stomach condition for the past 15 years. Everything I ate soured or fermented in my stomach causing constipation, gas and bloating. Pains throughout my body at times became almost unbearable. It was so bad at times I really thought I was a goner. Some called it acute indigestion, but whatever it was, it was terrible. The spells would come on me shortly after eating, and often during the night. I could hardly get my breath, and thought I would choke to death. All I could retain in my stomach was milk, but it did not satisfy my craving for more substantial food. I could feel my strength creeping away, day by day. I lost weight till I was only skin and bones. I lost all pep and ambition and my work became a burden. My liver was very much deranged, as I was subject to headaches and dizzy spells, and my sleep so disturbed that morning found me completely ALL IN. As everybody here seemed to be taking this ORANGE ROOT and the Golden Nuggets with wonderful results, I decided to try it myself. Now since taking 6 bottles of it and a few of those Golden Nuggets, all my stomach miseries have left me, my liver acts normally and I feel peppy and alert at all times. I have no more headaches or dizzy spells, eat anything, sleep well at night, and feel like a new made man. My recovery from ill health has been so rapid and lasting that I am telling everybody I know just how wonderful these ORANGE ROOT remedies really are."

Orange Root contains such time-proven herbs as Gentian, Yellow Root, Nux Vomica and Celery Seeds, combined with IRON. This famous combination of such mercurious ingredients seems to benefit everybody in some particular way. End your stomach miseries this very day. Philo Vance Story of Mystery and Crime.

By S. S. VAN DINE

"NO!" Markham fairly spat the negative. "The name of the dead man is certain. It's common enough, and it's a wonder more people haven't been killed or injured with all this revival of an heretofore country. Moreover, it's wholly possible that Robin's death was the result of an accident."

"Oh, my aunt!" Vance wagged his head reprovingly. "That fact, even were it true, wouldn't help the situation any. It would only make it queerer. Of the thousands of archery enthusiasts in these fair states, the one with the name of Cock Robin should be accidentally killed with an arrow! Such a supposition would lead us into spiritism and demonology and whatnot. Do you, by any chance, believe in Eblises and Azazels and jinn who go about playing Satanic jokes on mankind?"

"Must I be a Mohammedan mythologist to admit coincidences?" returned Markham tartly.

"My dear fellow! The proverbial long arm of coincidence does not extend to infinity. There are, after all, laws of probability, based on quite definite mathematical formulas. It would make me sad to think that such men as Laplace and Czuber and von Kries had lived in vain.—The present situation, however, is even more complicated than you suspect. For instance, you mentioned over the phone that the last person known to have been with Robin before his death is named Sperling."

"And what esoteric significance lies in that fact?"

"Perhaps you know what Sperling means in German," suggested Vance dulcetly.

"I've been to High School," retorted Markham. "Then his eyes opened slightly, and his body became tense."

Vance pushed the German dictionary toward him.

"Well, anyway, look up the word. We might as well be thorough. I looked it up myself. I was afraid my imagination was playing tricks on me, and I had a yearning to see the word in black and white."

Markham opened the book in silence, and let his eye run down the page. After staring at the word for several moments he drew himself up resolutely, as if fighting off a spell. When he spoke his voice was defiantly belligerent.

"Sperling means 'sparrow.' Any school boy knows that. What of it?"

"Oh, to be sure," Vance lit another cigarette languidly. "And any school boy knows the old nursery rhyme entitled 'The Death and Burial of Cock Robin,' what?"

He glanced tantalizingly at Markham, who stood immobile, staring out into the spring sunshine.

"Since you pretend to be unfamiliar with that childhood classic, permit me to recite the first stanza."

A chill, as of some unseen spectral presence, passed over me as Vance repeated those old familiar lines:

"Who killed Cock Robin?"

"I," said the sparrow.

"With my bow and arrow.

"I killed Cock Robin."

(Copyright 1929, By Charles Scribner's Sons).

Synopsis of preceding chapter: A man known as Cock Robin is shot through the heart with an arrow. The body is found on the archery range beside the home of Professor Dillard, where Robin was well known. The crime seems to be the intentional dramatization of the old nursery rhyme "Who killed Cock Robin?" District Attorney Markham is puzzled by the apparently senseless circumstances attending it and asks the aid of Philo Vance, wealthy young bachelor who dabbles in the solving of unusual mysteries.

CHAPTER 2.

Slowly Markham brought his eyes back to Vance.

"It's mad," he remarked, like a man confronted with something at once inexplicable and terrifying.

"Tut, tut!" Vance waved his hand airily. "That's plagiarism. I said it first." (He was striving to overcome his own sense of perplexity by a lightness of attitude.)

"And now there really should be an innamorata to bewail Mr. Robin's passing. You recall, perhaps, the stanza:

"Who'll be chief mourner?"

"I," said the dove.

"I mourn my lost love:

"I'll be chief mourner."

Markham's head jerked slightly, and his fingers beat a nervous tattoo on the table.

"Oh, my aunt, Vance! There is a girl in the case. And there's a possibility that jealousy lies at the

Weds Millionaire

Mademoiselle Carron, now the bride of Aga Khan, millionaire Mohammedan, pictured in her wedding dress. The photograph was made when Aga Khan married this girl, who is of humble origin. They were wed first at Aix-les-Bains and then in a Moslem church in Paris.

"I saw him die."

"Come down to earth!" Markham spoke with acerbity. "This isn't a child's game. It's serious business."

Vance nodded abstractedly.

"A child's game is sometimes the most serious business in life." His words held a curious, far-away tone. "I don't like this thing—I don't at all like it. There's too much of the child in it—the child born old and with a diseased mind. It's like some hideous perversion."

He took a deep inhalation on his cigarette, and made a slight gesture of repugnance. "Give me the details. Let's find out where we stand in this topsy-turvy land."

Pimples Cleared Away

Muncie, Ind.—"Resinol Soap has worked wonders for me. I had been bothered for a few years with pimples on my face and had tried various soaps and lotions in an effort to overcome this condition, but without success. Resinol Soap was recommended to me, so I tried it and have used it ever since. It not only restored my skin to a healthy, normal condition, but it has kept it so."

(Signed) Mrs. J. O. Dailey.

Resinol is recommended by doctors everywhere for almost all types of skin disorders—eczema, rashes, pimples, cloudy complexion. Spread on a little Resinol Ointment at night; then wash off with Resinol Soap and hot water in the morning. Do this once a day. Try it yourself. At all druggists.

For free sample of each, write Resinol, Dept. 69, Baltimore, Md.

"Give him Blackstones for Christmas"

urge these three charming girls

Above is Miss Jewel Roe, cigar girl at Webster Hall. To the right Miss Thelma Walker of the Nixon, Pittsburgh's famous restaurant. And to the extreme right is Miss Jewell Seaman, tray girl at the Keystone Athletic Club.

Three girls who know the cigar taste of Pittsburgh! Miss Jewell Seaman, tray girl at the Keystone Athletic Club . . . Miss Thelma Walker of the Nixon Restaurant . . . and Miss Jewel Roe of Webster Hall. They suggest, today, a smoke new to smokers here and in Pittsburgh—Blackstone cigars.

BLACKSTONE CABINET 10¢

BLACKSTONE PERFECTOS 2 for 25¢

MANY men who first tried Blackstones in other parts of the country asked for them in this city. And now you can get them at all good tobacconists here.

Blackstone cigars have the unmistakable flavor of quality. And they're so mild that they're a favorite with cigarette smokers.

Perhaps you'd like to give some friend cigars for Christmas. Then give him Blackstones, is the sound advice we give you.

Just make this test yourself today: light up a Blackstone. Savor it. Let its mellow fragrance roll over your tongue. Then decide for yourself if it isn't more satisfying, when you want real aristocratic smoking pleasure, to light up a Blackstone!

Blackstones are made under the most sanitary conditions. And they are mellowed by nature's ripening process. It takes time and money to do this. But the result is a cigar of the highest quality—mild, cool, fragrant.
